Society for Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics
17th Annual Symposium
Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta

The 17th Annual Symposium of the Society for Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics will be held at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta on April 16-17, 2009. The aim of the meeting is to present and discuss recent developments in theoretical and empirical analysis of nonlinearity in economics and finance.

You are invited to submit a paper. Completed manuscripts or extended abstracts can be submitted electronically via the Conference Maker software at the following link:

https://editorialexpress.com/cgi-bin/conference/conference.cgi?action=login&db_name=SNDE2009

To submit a paper, note that you must select a program committee member to whom your paper will be assigned. The program committee includes:

Celso Brunetti, Johns Hopkins University
Matthieu Bussiere, European Central Bank
Carl Chiarella, University of Technology Sydney
James Costain, Bank of Spain
Cees Diks, University of Amsterdam
Mark Jensen, Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta
Kevin Lansing, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco
Junsoo Lee, University of Alabama
Sebastiano Manzan, Baruch College
Bruce Mizrach, Rutgers University
Claudio Morana, University of Piemonte Orientale
James Morley, Washington University
Michael Owyang, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis
Ivan Paya, Lancaster University
Philip Rothman, East Carolina University (Chair of Program Committee)

If you have any co-authors on your submitted paper, please make sure to supply all name and affiliation details within Conference Maker when submitting.

Submissions must be received on or before December 14, 2008. Authors will be notified whether their papers have been accepted for the Symposium by January 15, 2009.

Papers presented at the conference may be considered for publication in the society's journal, Studies in Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics, which is published by the Berkeley Electronic Press and which can be accessed at http://www.bepress.com/snde/

All registrants, including presenters (invited and contributed) must pay the registration fee, which helps defray the cost of the meeting. The registration fee is 240 USD (200 USD before February 15, 2009). Please note that all registration fees are non-refundable.

Complete details regarding registration and local accommodation will be available in the near future on the society's website:

http://snde.rutgers.edu/SNDE/society/snde.html

The Society will award two $500 prizes: the James B. Ramsey prize for the top paper in econometrics presented by a graduate student; and the Gerald P. Dwyer, Jr. prize for the top paper in finance presented by a graduate student . Graduate students' electronic submissions should be followed up by a letter from a professor certifying that the submitter is a graduate student in good standing in the professor's. This letter should be sent to:

Philip Rothman
Department of Economics
Brewster Building
East Carolina University
Greenville, NC 27858

For additional information about the Society for Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics and its activities, see its web site at:

http://snde.rutgers.edu/SNDE/society/snde.html

If you have any questions regarding paper submission or registration, please e-mail the administrative contact for SNDE 2009, Kristin Scheyer, at snde2009@q.com.